

Persephone Capital Partners, LLC (PCP) Acquires Global Relief Technologies, Inc. (GRT)

PCP and GRT combine financial and technology expertise to deliver integrated enterprise mobility solutions.

(PRWEB) May 22, 2013 -- Persephone Capital Partners, a private equity firm specializing in high growth companies in alternative energy, healthcare and technology sectors, announces the recent acquisition of GRT, headquartered at Pease International, Portsmouth, NH.

Government and private enterprises are implementing field mobile technology solutions to improve work flow and drive down costs, which is increasing both complexity and the demand for mobile expertise, deployment resources and 7×24 mobile support. With expansion capital funding provided by PCP, GRT will be able to fully capitalize on its intellectual capital gained from over 10 years of mobile field experience and provide the additional resources and expertise needed to help our customers manage their entire mobile lifecycle as they plan, develop, integrate, deploy, support, and analyze their field mobile solutions.

Jay Lifton, PCP's Managing Partner stated, "Today's mobile field service and work flow technology is providing government and commercial enterprises with the ability to collect, transmit, analyze and integrate data securely, efficiently and accurately while generating significant cost savings and better decision making. PCP recognizes the potential of the multi-billion dollar mobile technology market and the industry leading capabilities of GRT's proprietary technology architecture, as well as its highly qualified and experienced business solutions analysts."

Alex Sorokin, who has more than 30 years of executive and consulting experience with technology and business development in a wide range of industries, has been appointed as GRT's CEO.
